Shorter, Tighter Skirts Are Decreed for Winter

Special to The Washington Post. Chicago, Sept. 13.—They're getting shorter and tighter and winter is not far away.

Two thousand delegates from all over the country assembled here today for the opening of the Fashion Art league convention and were informed by creators of individual styles that women's skirts will require less material than ever in the forthcoming fashions.

Besides snipping off an inch or so at the bottom of the skirt, and making it tighter around the knees, the designers announce a striking change in silhouettes with a straight-line effect, produced by making the upper part of every gown fuller by folds and blouses, puffs and ruffles. #### Bill to Forbid Swearing In Philippines Introduced (Special Cable Dispatch.) Manila, Sept. 13.-Represer tative Lupo Biteng, of Ilocosur, today introduced a house bill prohibiting cursing, swearing and profanity within the terriboundaries of the Philip pine islands. Infraction of the proposed law would result in a $25 fine or a week's imprison ment, with increasing penalties for further violations.

Whether the bill will affect the Mohammedan and pagan tribes is uncertain, as the Moros swear by Allah or by the beard of the prophet or by Gen. Leonard Wood, while the hill tribes use the names of heather

Some believe Senor Biteng had in mind the American residents, most of whom came to the Philippines in 1898 and who have been cursing themselves ever since. (Copyright, 1926, by Chicago Tribune

Silken banners and floats, decora tive and symbolical of some mystic rites, broke the monotony of the white, color streaked, seemingly unending waves of humanity.

Bands and fife and drum cops, 35 of them rending the air with martial and religious notes, "Onward. Christian Soldiers," always prominent, set the marching beats sometimes confusedly when they came too close together, at other times setting an easy, leisurely step.

More than 200 policemen paced easily before the steel stanchions which held the crowd in compact human banks on either side of the Avenue and along the line of march down Fifteenth street. Superintendant of police, Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, rode in an automobile at the head of the procession and two and a half hours later mounted police brought up the rear. Variety of Uniforms.

There were uniforms in the parade drawn from virtually every chapter of the nation's history. First, there was the original uniform of the klan which administered summarily to the reconstructing South—a plain white robe, with a red circled design over the left breast and the cone-shaped white hood, the mask rolled up beneath it. Then there were the flaming green robes of some of the grand dragons, with the likeness of the monster embroidered on their breast and on their hood; the fiery red burnished gold costumes of the dragons of other States; the exalted cyclops and field representatives in their robes of somber red, with plain designs of their rank.

From this the robes and uniforms knew no bounds of design. The New York delegation was headed by a platoon of fascisti-attired men—or rather they suggested that. They wore a very dark grav that Total Exclusion of Immigrants to Be Pushed: Bible in Public Schools Urged.

Assertions that the Eucharistic Congress was the Pope's challenge to America and that the order was gathered here as answer, coupled with an attack on Gov. Smith, of New York, featured the first session of the biennial meeting of the Ku Klux Klan in Washington auditorium last night.

The attack on Gov. Smith and the reference to the Eucharistic Congress were made by a high official of the organization introduced as the man who "seated Senator May-field of Texas, and who unseated Senator Brookhart of Iowa."

There was a two-minute demon-stration when the speaker declared "Al Smith's days in New York are about ended." The delegates cheered and yelled, one voice from the rear of the huge auditorium shouting: "California, here I

The Pennsylvania Klan appeared to have the largest representation. They formed on Maryland avenue northeast, between second street and Eighth street, spreading out on the streets connecting for a block or two on each one. The American steel industry recently appealed to the Treasury Department for the enforcement of section 303 of the tariff act of 1922, which provides that whenever a foreign country, person or corporation in a foreign country, shall pay or bestow a bounty or grant upon the manufacture or production or export of any article the Secretary of the Treasury shall impose an additional import duty on such article or articles, equal to the bounty or grant.

While it was decided that the case did not come within the "bounty" section, an investigation by a mixed commission, composed of Germans and Americans, decided that it does come under the antidumping clause of the 1921 tariff act, which was not repealed when the 1922 act was passed. The antidumping provision is sections 201 and 202 of the act of 1921. Whenever a foreign country or individual or corporation sells commodities in the United States at less than it sells them for in the country of origin, the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized by this provision to impose an additional duty equal to the difference between the price in the United States and the price in the country of origin or manufacture

Germany has revived and reestablished her steel industry to a point where she leads all countries in steel exports. Two years ago Germany was seventh in steel exports; last year she was fourth, and this year she is first, This astonishing development is largely due to loans from Wall street. Germany's production of steel products last year was the highest in 25 years.

Incidentally, Germany's import duties on steel products are from two to five times higher than those of the United States.

American loans abroad are enabling many foreign industries to enter the American market, pay the tariff and transportation charges, and undersell competing American industries, yet these same foreign industries are protected by import duties greater than those imposed by the United States

RELATIONS WITH CUBA.

Announcement is made that Cuba proposes to enact a new customs tariff, protecting commodities that may be manufactured in Cuba. treating all importers alike, granting no concessions to Cuban manufacturers or sugar companies to import raw materials at special reduced rates, changing many ad valorem to specific rates, and providing for a maximum and minimum rate so that reciprocal arrangements may be made under commercial treaties While it is reported that the United States will receive the benefits of preferential reductions of duty in accordance with the existing reciprocity treaty between the United States and Cuba, nevertheless there is a persistent rumor that efforts will be made to have the present preferential reductions contingent upon further reductions in the duties on Cuban commodities, including sugar. In other words, it is reported that Cuba wishes to have the existing reciprocity treaty with the United States amended so as to increase the preferential reductions on Cuban sugar entering the

President Roosevelt secured a commercial convention with Cuba, signed December 11, 1902, permitting a reduction of 20 per cent in the existing import duty on Cuban sugar and other Cuban commodities in return for a reduction of Cuban duties ranging from 20 to 40 per cent on certain American commodities. The Senate ratified the convention on March 19, 1903. The final article of the convention provided that it should not take effect until it should receive the approval of Congress, that is, both houses. The House approved on November 19 and the Senate on December 17,

It is a matter of doubt as to whether this reciprocity arrangement has benefited the United States to any appreciable degree. It is claimed that the only great benefit has been enjoyed by the American sugar refiners, who have been able to import Cuban raw sugar at a reduction of 20 per cent under the regular duty, and that this benefit has not been passed

If there should be any attempt to amend the reciprocity convention with Cuba, the agree? Since the original treaty provided that should not take effect until approved by Congress, and since the subject pertains to the raising of revenue, it is almost a certainty that the House would insist upon being consulted in regard to any amendment or new arrangement.

DEVELOPING THE MERCHANT MARINE.

In order to obtain an idea of the best qualifled public sentiment on the subject of developing and maintaining the American merchant marine, so that a report may be made to Congress, the Shipping Board has prepared three questions to be submitted to chambers of commerce, ship operators and others interested in ommerce and shipping. These questions are:

A. Do you favor an American merchant marine operated (1) through private capital and under private ownership, or (2) through construction, operation and ownership by the government?

B. What method do you advocate for the purpose of enabling American flag ships to compete with foreign flag ships in commerce to and from the United

C. In addition to the foregoing please submit any other or further suggestions or data you deem pertinent to the issue presented by the resolution.

The first question will probably throw little light on the situation. Theoretically the merchant marine should be owned and operated by private enterprise, so far as commerce is concerned; but the question of employing the merchant marine as an auxiliary of the navy in time of war must also be considered, and then the theory of exclusive private ownership highway aid system approximately $95,747,and operation of the merchant marine must be qualified with the proviso that the entire fleet should be so constituted as to be available for the government in time of war, with a personnel capable of rendering war service. The merchant marine, in short, should be a part of the United States naval reserve.

The second question involves many considerations. Wages are high in the United States. and the shipping laws require American ship operators to pay high wages. If a direct sub sidy can not be paid to every ship operating under the American flag, according to its size, speed and services rendered, then it might be possible to make a government allowance to The complaint was based on certain imports all American-fiag ships for the purpose of equipping it for emergency war service and also for the drilling of officers and crews in the rudiments of naval warfare. The merchant marine will surely be commandeered at the beginning of war. Why not have it ready many. Including all charges and profits, it is for war service always? The recognition of claimed that the price in the United States is the national defense value of the merchant about 30 per cent below the price in Germany. marine should be materialized by appropriations for constituting the merchant marine a naval reserve fleet.

> Another method of assisting the merchant marine would be to place army transports in reserve, ready for emergencies and turn over the ordinary transport of soldiers, supplies, &c., to commercial lines, thus enabling them to count upon a moderately profitable steady business. The cost of operating army transports is very large, and the vessels are not conomical. They should not be done away with, as they would be badly needed in case of war; but there is no apparent reason why the War Department should not contract with commercial lines for the every-day transpor tation of mens and supplies.

An amplification of the laws relating to pay for ocean mail service would encourage American shipping. Vessels of great speed are Why should not added inducements scarce. be offered by the government for the operation of fast mail steamers? Such vessels would be especially useful in time of war.

THE VANISHED RACE OF PRINTERS.

In these days of swimming contests across he English channel from France to England, tennis matches in Paris and Wimbledon, flights across the north pole and international matches of all kinds, it is not strange that the typesetting race which was recently staged in Colorado Springs passed off with little notice from the outside.

Colorado Springs is the home for superannuated printers. It is an ideal spot in which the old-timers, and especially the wanderers of the craft, are spending the days until "30" shall be marked at the end of their last The home was built by the printers hemselves, and there are many among those living who cashed in "strings" as a contribution to the fund which made the home possible.

Like the Sargasso sea, which is believed to he the haven of every ship missing since the Flying Dutchman, Phil Vanderdecken master, disappeared with all his crew, so the Colorado Springs home is the haven for all those "tramp printers" who once roamed from coast to coast with their printer's rule and a few shirts and socks as baggage. The typesetting machines drove this picturesque species of ourneyman from the labor market. Scarcely one of them has been seen along the old-time routes for a quarter of a century. Following the civil war and up to the time of the general use of the linotype, they were to be found periodically in every city as well as in every village that supported a weekly newspaper or

The tramp printer might stay on the job as long as a month, but usually the first pay day found him suffering from the urge for new scenes and a change of climate. He measured his "dupes." cashed in his string, and was off

These men were in no sense tramps of the untry road variety. They were craftsmen of the first rank in many instances. One of the best known of all of them was George Arensburg, who in his day held the record for setting more thousands "ems" "solid nonpareil" in ten hours than any other printer who ever stood in front of a case.

PROTECTING THE MAILS.

Railway postal clerks need no command from postal authorities to shoot to kill, nor monetary reward for capture of mail car bandits as an incentive to protect the property in their custody from theft. There is no more loval body of men in the public service today than the clerks in charge of the ratiroad mails. They would "shoot to kill" as a matter of course, if they had the opportunity. The system is at fault. Bandits do not go about their nefarious business with a tooting of horns or jangling of bells to announce their coming. It is while postal clerks are intent upon sorting mail, and pouching it for delivery at the next station, that these robbers, expert in on will arise: Oan it he amended by the picking locks, silently steal in upon them,

Senate alone, or must both houses of Congress | with the command "hands up" get the "drop on the employes.

Railway postal clerks must occupy every moment of their time at their allotted task. The mails travel on schedule and pouches must be tossed off en route on time. country would object to delay in transmitting and receiving letters. If it is "self-evident," as postoffice authorities have said in an official communication, "that members of the underworld and bandit gangs throughout the United States have again thrown down the gauntlet to the railway mail service to hold up postal cars at every possible chance and attempt to steal valuable registered letters," then the Postoffice Department should appeal for a detail of marines to furnish protection. Postal clerks can not stand alert and armed and at the same time sort mail. If they keep busy at their tasks they are easy prey for gunmen. The Postoffice Department should provide an armed guard over the mails in transit. Mail clerks should not be forced to fight duels and sort mail also. Their lives are placed in too great jeopardy by such a plan.

GASOLINE TAXES.

Official reports show that last year the gasoline taxes imposed by 44 States and the District of Columbia amounted to $148,258,000. In 1919 they amounted to only $1,022,000, and were imposed by only four States. By 1922 there were nineteen States taxing gasoline the revenue from that source amounting to $12,703.000.

In the fiscal year 1925 the government dis tributed to the several States under the Federal The States expended $67,000,000 to match the Federal appropriations, while the gross State incomes from motor-vehicle licenses and gasoline taxes amounted to $304,467,000. Thus the States received in 1925 from licenses, gasoline taxes and the Federal government something like $400,000,000, and expended only $67,000,000 on roads. Motorists are an easy mark for tax collectors

MR. SIMMONS' PROPOSAL.

Senator Simmons again announces that he and his party associates believe that the next Congress should immediately set about to put through another tax-reduction bill in order to relieve the taxpavers. Mr. Simmons states that the Treasury surplus of 1926 plus the probable Treasury surplus at the end of 1927 will amount to $562,000,000, and that "this fund is, or will be, available for present re-The senator predicts that the surduction." plus June 30 next will be about $185,000,000.

The suggestion is made that President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon are delaying another tax reduction proposal in order to make a reduction in 1928, just before the presidential election. But there is nothing to show that the President or the Secretary of the Treasury are conducting the finances of the government on a political basis.

The financial figures for the fiscal year ended last June will give some idea of the requirements of the present fiscal year. For the ast fiscal year total ordinary receipts were $3.962.755.690 and total ordinary expenditures $3,097,611,822. But in addition to these expenditures there was $487,376,050 for the sinking fund and various other items, making a grand total of expenditures amounting to $3,584,987,873.

Treasury receipts for this present fiscal year will depend upon continued prosperity. Treas ury certificates amounting to $452,879,000 will come due December 15 next. Treasury notes amounting to $355,779,900 will come due December 15, 1927, and Treasury notes amounting to $668,201,400 will come due March 15 This makes a total of more than $1. 476,000,000 in interest-bearing debts that must he naid or refunded between December 15. 1926, and December 15, 1927. Provision must also be made for disposition of the second liberty loan bonds in 1927, amounting to $3, 104.527.800.

In the face of these facts it is difficult to see how any senator can propose another tax reduction measure in the next Congress, except for political effect. The country can not afford another reduction of taxes next year, about it. The clippings were collected in response to an intimation that the premier was interested in knowing to what extent the interview was printed and the opportunity of Mr. Davis' trip to Italy was taken to entrust him with their delivery.) "'What is this you have?' cried Mussolini. 'Something for me? Open.'"

Gratified by Clippings.

"I explained that it represented one day's space devoted by American daily newspapers to one of his recent cabled utterances. He ran through the pages with the practiced hand of an old newspaper man exulted at seven column head lines, saluted his own picture, laughed at caricatures and altogether showed much gratification.

"'The American press has never slighted Italy,' he said. 'We have received always much consideration and justice from your country. To America I always speak frankly.

"A flood of sharply defined words poured from his lips.

"Italy will absorb them." he cried. We have rich undeveloped land, great resources, power, energy of body and soul, and a new race is being born into this country.

"I ask my people as an econômic measure to cease importing four and to turn back to black bread. Italy always adjusts herself to the needs of the hour. On the 18th of this month this bread order will go into effect without discomfort to any one."

"On the subject of military aviation the premier threw up both his hands, dashed across the room and pointed to an aluminum model of a flying machine.

"There is Italy's answer,' he exclaimed. 'Commercial. Three times a week, Genoa, Rome, Palerino. Passenger and freight. And other lines contemplated will be completed. We are for progress, not destruction. Italy looks to America to the future of civilization."

Merton was asked why speed was necessary to get the Societe Suisse's claim through, and he explained that the company of which he was head had guaranteed bondholders against loss. Balance sheets were required before June 30 of each year, he said, and he made the trip to America in April, 1921 to expedite matters. He said he was afraid the Merton family would lose control of its business unless assurances could be had that their in-terests were protected properly.

"I was afraid, too," he added with a smile, "that I would get kicked out of my office."

Merton related that Hiram C. Todd, of the Department of Jus-tice, had visited him in Frankfort in 1925, but was not given full ac cess to the books of the Societe Suisse. Merton was later indicted, but he was not named in the more recent superseding indictment.

When Kenneth F. Simpson, one of Buckner's assistants, visited him last spring, however, he was given access to the Swiss books. Shortly before Merton sailed for America,

A LMOST every known variety of material has at some time or other been used in decoration, but until very recently the possibilities lying dormant in a roll of ollcloth seem to have failed to register. Yet what is more logical than the use of this sturdy fabric in the decorating of the kitchen, in particular? Its gay, shiny colors, its adaptability, and, above all, the practical utility of it, should have long ago earned it the recognition it now enjoys.

Many times she talks of other men. Is that to make me jealous or hurt my feelings? I can not get jealous because a girl has a right to love whom she pleases, but she does hurt my feelings. I can not tell whether that is intentionally or otherwise.

Miss McDonald, I love her. I am always thinking about her, and within two weeks she is leaving toyn.

Once she told me "Why don't you go out, Bob, and find a girl that you can love. You're goodlooking and I am sure you can find the right girl."

Conduct and Common Sense

DON'T BE AFRAID

A LMOST all the stupid mistakes we make, and, indeed, most of the faults and failings of the world, come from fear. Peopie are selfish for fear that they won't get what they want. They tell lies because they are afraid to confess the truth, and yet never was there a truer saying than that the truth will set you free. I have seen a family of decent men in an agony because they had risen to be householders in a community that did not know their father had been a distinguished chef, and they feared some one would find it out. Now, some one would find it out. Now, some one would find it out. Now, some many things they should have been and only this one thing they shouldn't. They were ashamed of his profession and his excellence in it, and this kept them constantly afraid.

NATIONAL PLAYERS END SEASON WITH COMEDY

"Seven Keys to Baldpate" Well Done by Company as Farewell.

AUDIENCE IN APPROVAL

As the press agent for the National Theater Players stated: 'When George M. Cohan took a holiday from flag-waving, he produced 'The Seven Keys to Baldpate' "-- and the pity of it is that he didn't take one a little oftenerand another pity is that the Brooke Thespians didn't try the piece earlier in the season; it would have been good for a three weeks' stand on any stage.

And so, the National folks bring to a close a very remarkable stock season with the old Cohan melodramatic farce. Mr. Brooke, in the role of gentleman-usher, made a delightful little postmortem speech to the illuminati assembled to wit ness the demise—and the ballast weights on the curtain were work ing overtime when this critic left the house.

The National Theater Players could, it is possible, have picked out a more pretentious offering for their fade-out number, but they didn't, and more's the joy of it.
As everyone knows, "The Seven Keys to Baldpate" ranks along with the very finest melodramatic Accumulated deficiency of temperature since fanuary 1, 1929, 107 degrees.

for his edification a deserted summer hotel is assigned him. And what could be more lonesome than a summer hotel in midwinter? And what could be more natural than that a surprising plot involvthan that a surprising plot involving bribery, robbery and murder should suggest itself to the author? Such is the plot of the piece—with a hermit thrown in for good measure. By a surprise ending the piece is made plausible. Alexis Luce, as the struggling author, is assigned the pivotal role, in which assignment he is admirably supported by Dorothy Tierney.

ably supported by Dorothy Tierney, as the sob sister. The play gives the entire cast an opportunity. The cast includes Percy Winter, Henrictta Graham, Maurice Jarvis, Mrs. Hibbard. Arthur Rhodes. Rhea Dively, Russell Fillmore, Romaine Callender, Dennis Connell, Charles Hampden and Karl Nielsen. And so ends the season. National Players have progressed here and they leave pleasant memories.

PET BEAR CUB ESCAPES AT EXECUTIVE OFFICES

Coolidge Fishing Guests Prepare to Say Farewell to Student of Woodlore.

Paul Smiths, N. Y., Sept. 13 (By A. P.) .- Government questions received here in the last week of President Coolidge's vacation occupied the executive offices today while preparations were begun for his departure for Washington late

Although the President spent several hours at the offices, it was indicated that only routine matters were disposed of with the view of his having as many questions as possible disposed of before his return to the Capital. Only two visitors are scheduled to be received by Mr. Coolidge this week, Herbert J. Tily, of Philadelphia, president, and Lew Hahn, managing director of he National Retail Dry Goods association, who will pay their respects omorrow

Cold, fall weather greeted the resident when he arose this morning bringing reminders of the approaching hunting season. vas no indication, however, that he would try his hand at shooting, al-hough the duck season opens Wed-

A miniature bear hunt was conducted 100 feet from the executive offices today when a 5-month old cinnamon cub, the pet of a summer visitor, threw off his chain and ran for the woods, finally climbing a tail pine overlooking the offices where the President was at his lesk. The bear was eventually coaxed down with raspberry jam. When President Coolidge returns to Washington he will say good-by to the two men with whom he has spent many of the happiest and most care-free hours of his long summer vacation.

This pair of friends is Oscar Otis and Ormon Doty, the Adirondacks woodsmen who have acted as Mr. Coulding struck street he came the care.

In their company the President has fished and tramped, joked and chatted, gone hungry and thirsty, wet and cold, and from them he has obtained many closeups of nature's lavish treasures of mountain and forest.

Both Otis and Doty have spent their lives in this vicinity. The former is caretaker of the Irwin R. Kirkwood camp, where the President is spending his vacation, and is the head guide. On all their trips, whether on little Osgood lake, which is in the dooryard of White Pine camp, or a distant body of water, Mr. Coolidge has gone as a fisherman, and not as a President. Years ago, before the days of the secret service, Grover Cleveland and later Theodore Roosevelt, came to the Adirondacks to hunt, tramp and fish with native guides, whom they numbered among their best friends. Their exploits on trail and stream are still discussed by the older mountaineers, who delight in reminiscences built around the intimacy they enjoyed with their distinguished visitors.

In his own way, Mr. Coolidge has laid the foundation for a similar tradition. His companionship with Otis and Doty has not been as unrestricted as that of his predecessors with their guides, because the President nowadays must not even go fishing without a secret service go fishing without a secret service escort. Except for these attendants however, Mr. Coolidge has passed many hours alone with his woods

CARAWAY CRITICIZES EUROPE'S ATTITUDE

Senator, Home, Says Campaign Against U.S. Abroad Is Inspired by Debts.

New York, Sept. 13 (By A. P.) -Europe is carrying on a campaign against America which has been inspired by the foreign nations debts and obligations to the United States, said United States Senator T. H. Caraway, of Arkansas, who arrived on the liner American Farmer today from a tour abroad. He was in a pessimistic mood and said nothing had been accomplished at the interparliamentary union at Geneva, which he had attended, because of Europe's attitude toward America. He characterized this attitude as "anything that Americans want Europeans do not want.

He said they had hoped to reach an agreement recommending the suppression of habit-forming drugs, "but there were so many questions stirring in Europe, which Europeans think are vital, that we were not able to interest anybody."

Announcing the # National Broadcasting Company, Inc.

National radio broadcasting with better programs permanently assured by this important action of the Radio Corporation of America in the interest of the listening public

THE RADIO CORPORATION OF AMERICA I is the largest distributor of radio receiving sets in the world. It handles the entire output in this field of the Westinghouse and General Electric factories.

It does not say this boastfully. It does not say it with apology. It says it for the purpose of making clear the fact that it is more largely interested, more selfishly interested, if you please, in the best possible broadcasting in the United States than anyone

Radio for 26,000,000 Homes

The market for receiving sets in the future will be determined largely by the quantity and quality of the programs broadcast.

We say quantity because they must be diversified enough so that some of them will appeal to all possible listeners.

We say quality because each program must be the best of its kind. If that ideal were to be reached, no home in the United States could afford to be without a radio receiving

Today the best available statistics indicate that 5,000,000 homes are equipped, and 21,000,000 homes remain to be supplied.

Radio receiving sets of the best reproductive quality should be made available for all, and we hope to make them cheap enough so that all may buy.

The day has gone by when the radio receiving set is a plaything. It must now be an instrument of service.

WEAF Purchased for $1,000,000

The Radio Corporation of America, therefore, is interested, just as the public is, in having the most adequate programs broadcast. It is interested, as the public is, in having them comprehensive and free from

Any use of radio transmission which causes the public to feel that the quality of the programs is not the highest, that the use of radio is not the broadest and best use in the public interest, that it is used for political advantage or selfish power, will be detri-mental to the public interest in radio, and therefore to the Radio Corporation of

To insure, therefore, the development of this great service, the Radio Corporation of America has purchased for one million dollars station WEAF from the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, that company having decided to retire from the broadcasting business.

The Radio Corporation of America will assume active control of that station on November 15.

National Broadcasting Company Organized

The Radio Corporation of America has decided to incorporate that station, which has achieved such a deservedly high reputation for the quality and character of its programs, under the name of the National Broadcasting Company, Inc.

The Purpose of the New Company

The purpose of that company will be to provide the best program available for broadcasting in the United States.

The National Broadcasting Company will not only broadcast these programs through station WEAF, but it will make them available to other broadcasting stations throughout the country so far as it may be practicable to do so, and they may desire to take

It is hoped that arrangements may be made so that every event of national importance may be broadcast widely throughout the United

No Monopoly of the Air

The Radio Corporation of America is not in any sense seeking a monopoly of the air. That would be a liability rather than an asset. It is seeking, however, to provide machinery which will insure a national distribution of national programs, and a wider distribution of programs of the highest

If others will engage in this business the Radio Corporation of America will welcome their action, whether it be cooperative or com-

If other radio manufacturing companies, competitors of the Radio Corporation of America, wish to use the facilities of the National Broadcasting Company for the purpose of making known to the public their receiving sets, they may do so on the same terms as accorded to other clients.

The necessity of providing adequate broadcasting is apparent. The problem of finding the best means of doing it is yet experimental. The Radio Corporation of America is making this experiment in the interest of the art and the furtherance of the industry.

A Public Advisory Council

In order that the National Broadcasting Company may be advised as to the best type of program, that discrimination may be avoided, that the public may be assured that the broadcasting is being done in the fairest and best way, always allowing for human frailties and human performance, it has created an Advisory Council, composed of twelve members, to be chosen as representative of various shades of public opinion, which will from time to time give it the benefit of their judgment and suggestion. The members of this Council will be announced as soon as their acceptance shall have been obtained

M. H. Aylesworth to be President

The President of the new National Broadcasting Company will be M. H. Aylesworth, for many years Managing Director of the National Electric Light Association. He will perform the executive and administrative duties of the corporation.

Mr. Aylesworth, while not hitherto identified with the radio industry or broadcasting, has had public experience as Chairman of the Colorado Public Utilities Commission, and, through his work with the association which represents the electrical industry, has a broad understanding of the technical problems which measure the pace of broadcasting.

One of his major responsibilities will be to see that the operations of the National Broadcasting Company reflect enlightened public opinion, which expresses itself so promptly the morning after any error of taste or judgment or departure from fair

We have no hesitation in recommending the National Broadcasting Company to the people of the United States.

It will need the help of all listeners. It will make mistakes. If the public will make known its views to the officials of the company from time to time, we are confident that the new broadcasting company will be an instrument of great public service.

"The institute today is larger, its educational program broader, the scope of its activities wider and its organization more compact than ever before," said Mr. Miller, who took no credit for this situation, and declared the result due to the fact that the members as a body are willing to give unselfish efforts to the creating of a higher standard are willing to give unselfish efforts to the creating of a higher standard of efficiency in the banking profession for the benefit of their fellow men.

The experience of Mr. Miller. coupled with his practical understanding of institute work, has been the inspiration and basis for the effort of chapters throughout the country to increase the student enrollments and to bend every effort toward procuring the best teachers available to make up the faculties. The educational committee of the Washington chapter, through the facilities provided for the advantage of its students, has placed the District in the forefront of the country's chapters, and the brilliant faculty which will carry on the instruction this year will do much toward keeping the local chapter in the enviable position which it now occupies.

The call loan rate renewed at 5 per cent, and that rate held throughout the day, but reports that banks were calling some $20,000,000 of loans kept the speculative community watching the ticker tape for a higher rate. Bullish traders were restrained by this possibility from extending them selves far and the surplus shown in Saturday's clearing house statement was probably an equally effective restraint on the short sellers.

Although much of the list was weaker, strength in the sugars, equipments, and some of the utilities kept the averages close to those at Saturday's close. Such advances as were shown outside these groups were due almost entirely to short covering.

Nats Held to 4 Hits; Will Miss Kearns in Bluege Returns to Lineup.

LEVELAND, Sept. 13.—Pitcher Joe Shaute, almost single-handed, gave Cleveland a 6-to-3 victory over the Nationals here this afternion in the Tribe's fourthfourth consecutive win over the Georgia Avenue Hussars, which cleaned up the series for Cleveland.
The Indian southpaw granted the Nats but four hits and personally took it upon himself to crack out a double—the only extra-base blow of the game—which emptied the filled bases in the seventh and give his team its margin of victory.

Alvin Crowder drew the Washington pitching assignment, but he was far from right. In all but two frames, the Tribe obtained at least one htt, while four of his six passes were turned into runs.

HEN the Harrismen overcame a 1-run lead in the third to become 2 up, it looked as though they finally would manage to win one of the games in this set, but the Indians got one run (CONTINUED ON PAGE 19, COLUMN 2.)

NATS FACING DETROIT NEXT

7-Game Set in Five Days Will Decide Nationals' Fate.

By FRANK H. YOUNG. LEVELAND, Sept. 13.—Bucky

Harris and his gang breathed sighs of relief when they left this burg tonight, for the Indians and punched the bag for two rounds.

Dempsey's weaving, bobbing style in crowding into his opponents was holdover champs back in the race just at a time when they needed victories most.

The Harrismen left here tonight, headed for Detroit, where they will idle tomorrow, communing with themselves, repenting their baseball sins of the set which ended today and trying to develop a winning spirit for the seven battles in five Chisox Take Final, 3-2 days with the Tigers.

If there ever was a "croocial" series, this coming one with Ty's outit is it, for it undoubtedly will decide the Nats' fate in the present flag chase. For some unknown reason he played semipro ball last year, and has been first-string catcher with the Elmira team this season, where he was hitting at a .285 clip when the Harrismen bought him. Difficult Course at Baltusrol Trips Many Leading Players.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST. SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 13.—
Towering over all the other contestants in a field of more contestants. than 150 players in the qualifying round of the national amateur golf tournament at Baltusrol today, Bob-by Jones proved that so far as he is concerned, there is no second. I would be Jones and nothing but does there appear to be anybody who can eclipse him. Even the possibility that some one would arise like a youthful David and smite the golfing Goliath in one of the two rounds of eighteen holes match play on Wednesday seems to have Jones might have been content

Jones might have been content today to amble easily around the course in par, but he evidently started out with the idea that the best way to throw fear into the hearts of his opponents was to demaonstrate his invincible form

There is no doubt that he succeeded. He led the field with a card of 70, four strokes better that his nearest rival for the honor.

GEORGE DAWSON, of Chicago, who is only 25 years old, and whose entire golfing record is confined to college tournaments in the West, had a score of 74, with Lauren Upson, California, and Paul Haviland, Boston, following close behind with 76. Jones made his 70 so easily that it really seemed like child's play. There was not a miracle shot in his entire round and only on two greens did he hole out with single putts.

With a screaming long drive, an accurate approach and the regulation two putts, he reeled off par after par, every hole being played of these he scored birdiesetaoinus in par figures except two and on these he scored birdies. There was not a hold on his card which showed even a single stroke over par.

When the smoke of battle had cleared away this evening were more than 40 contestants whose scores were 82 and under and of this number only 15 had been able to break 80. This means, of course, that the scoring was high, but as the course is drying out un der a bright, warm sun, the cards tomorrow will be lower.

Another walk got Crowder in het water in the home half. With one down, his fourth ball to Burns was also a wild pitch, letting George go all the way to seachd. An out sent him to third and Summa's line single sent him home with the tying run. A one-baser by L. #### PAR ECLIPSED CHAMP HOLDS BY JONES IN LAST DRILL TOURNEY* IN PUBLIC

Roland Mackenzie Is Will Miss Kearns in Leader of District Contingent.

Malthough this is a tournament in which high scoring is almost universal it is quite evident even, the two leaders in this list, Mackenzie and Voigt, will have to break into the seventies tomorrow if they hope to qualify, while the others have plied up for themselves a disastrous interference of strakes.

ITH a birdie 4 on the home hole, which is by no means impossible, or even with a par 5, he could face the ordeal of tomorrow's round with an easy heart. There is many a slip between the cup and the lip, however, and Roland discovered to his sorrow that many an unexpected shot lies between the tee and the green.

Along a hollow below the eighteenth tee and running parallel with the fairway is a wide brook and into this water Roland hooked his drive. A half-topped second shot struck the water with a glancing blow and fortunately skipped across to the rough on the other side. His fourth shot was short of the green and even when he took out his putter he struck the ball three times before it dropped into the cup, the hole thus costing him eight for a total of 81. McKenzie's card was as follows:

Out. ... 5.5 5 3 6 3 3 5 3 40

Fig. ... 5 5 4 4 3 3 8 5 8 41 - 81

Volgt also had his troubles. His first discouraging experience came on the fifth hole, 384 yards, where his tee shot was strapped. This would not have been so bad but in trying to get distance from the sand, his ball hit the top of the trap and fell back. Even after he had played his third shot he was still struggling to reach the fairway, so that he had expended five strokes before he reached the green, finally holing out in seven.

The eighteenth hole also added another seven to his card, for he typped his second shot into the brook and then sliced his fourth to the prook and then sliced his fourth to the prook and then sliced his fourth to the struck and the server.

The eighteenth hole also added shother seven to his card, for he thopped his second shot into the brook and then sliced his fourth into a trap on the right of the green. By the side of these unhappy episodes the fact that he had four three-put greens seemed minor matters. He was driving well and playing his irons finely and is hoping that tomorrow he can escape the troubles which beset him today. Voigt's card:

He had successfully passed through the trials and tribulations of the first nine playing every hole in par except the second and fifth, where he was one stroke over due to over-approaches, so that his card showed 38, two strokes over par.

THEN a dark cloud settled over him and when he had finished the second he had added 48 strokes nine he had added 48 strokes to his score. Approaches played over the green on the tenth and eleventh holes were followed by

The rest of his game was all that he could ask, for his drives were long and straight and he was not in a trap throughout his entire round. On green after green he either putted short of the cup or so far over that he missed the next stroke. "I failed each time," he said, after the round was over, "to judge the distance of ball from the cup. Houghton's card:

With no less than six 3-putt greens and encounters with an equal number of traps, in two of which he was not able to extricate his ball without some wasted shots, he had a hectic time from the first green to the last.

EVEN on the first green he took three putte and on the second hole he was in a Trap on his drive. On the third hole his tee shot hit a tree with fatal precision, and on the Jourth hole, a niblick shot of 125 yards across a muddy lake, he misjudged the distance and his ball made a beautiful splash in the pond.

S. M. Newton; who lives in Richmond and is entered from Burning Tree, also took entirely too many blows, his card totaling 89. He was Roland Mackenzie's partner in the qualifying round today, as he will be tomorrow, and he poured his grief-stricken story into Roland's ears all around the course. He had only five par holes on, hicard, which was as follows:

TO LEAD IN BOND BUYING

Stiff Money Rates Help Retard Activity in Domestic Issues.

FAIR DEMAND FOR RAILS

New York, Sept. 13 (By the As- Sale Issue. sociated Press.) .- Buying interest in today's bond market centered almost exclusively in the foreign list. Continued stiff money rates and an unsettled stock market retarded trading in domestic securities, although a few points of special strength developed.

Most of the activity in new financing also was in the foreign field. Arrangements were completed by a Arrangements were completed by a syndicate headed by the National City Co. for a $15,000,000 loan to Finland, while the $20,000,000 Prussian bond issue, offered today, was promptly subscribed.

reports were revived that additional Japanese financing might be expected, possibly for leading municipalities, but bankers were not aware of any plans for early offering. For French issues, including two of the government's obligations, reached the best prices of the year, and a strong demand developed for various German and South American is ous German and South American is-

Miscellaneous industrial liens made the best showing in the do-mestic division. Following an upturn in the company's stock, Gran-by Mining 7s mounted 3 points, to a new high level for the year at 125, and Mid-Continent Petroleum 6 ½s crossed 105 to a new peak. Wick-wire-Spencer Steel 7s gained more than a point.

Railroad bonds were mixed, with a fair demand for semispeculative issues offset by the heaviness of investment issues. A $1,000,000 issue of 10-year 6 per cent convertible notes of the Consolidated Cigar Corporation is scheduled for early offering. A $3,000,000 issue of 20-year 7 per cent bonds for the Leipzig Overland Power Co. will be marketed tomorrow at prices to marketed tomorrow at prices to yield from 7.15 to 7.20 per cent.

Comedy Develops as Commis-Decision Is Delayed.

Health Office William C. Fowler's proposed regulations to govern keeping of chickens and pigeons in Files Petition for Letters Testhe District met with a solid front of opposition at the public hearing on the measure in the District

Serious opposition was voiced by Maj. P. W. Evans, of the United States army signal corps, and by Attorney Elisha Hanson, representing several organizations of racing pigeon fanciers, who said the new prules, if adopted would embayes street northwest, widow of Robert by the organization, which com-

Note Found, Police Drag River for Boy

Following the finding of a suicide note at the foot of D street southwest by a park policeman yesterday, police of the Harbor precinct are dragging the river at that point for a 13-year-old colored boy, who is thought to have committed suicide by drowning. The note, scribbled on a plece of paper, was found lying on an old coat near the river bank. It reads as follows: "If think I'm done what was right. That will take a burden off your hands. Give my clothes to John Fore, three people in family. Take coat and note to 2522 I street northwest. (Signed) Willis Gray."

Police on investigating found that no one named Willis Gray lived at the I street address. It was learned, however, that Arthur Gray, colored. 13 years old, lived at the house, but had been missing from his home since Sunday.
